"The Turn of the Tide, or Wrecked in Port," was played before a good audience at Big Sandy Saturday evening. All who participated in the play are loud in their praise of the hospitality and many courtesies extended there by the good people of Big Sandy.

The visiting attorneys are Capt. T. L. Lanier, of Waverly; Colonel Thompson, of Paris; J. R. Wilkerson, of Lexington, and Judge Joe R. Hawkins, Capt. Sam Hawkins, Eltonzo Hawkins, G. T. McCall, Judge L. L. Hawkins, and J. T. Peeler, of Huntingdon.

Mr. J. F. Dowdy has purchased the stock of dry goods and assumed all liabilities of Pierce & Son, merchants, at Big Sandy. The Camden special last Saturday to the Nashville American that Pierce & Son had made an assignment was an error. Pierce & Son merely sold out to Mr. Dowdy.

Who will champion the people of Big Sandy and have them represented in the news columns of THE CHRONICLE every week? Let the young ladies and young men of that thriving little town ponder over this matter, and decide that Big Sandy deserves to be represented in her county paper.

Mr. John Nobles, of Big Sandy, one of the most practical and successful farmers in the county, had some fine tobacco for sale here Tuesday of his own raising. He has our thanks for a sample left at THE CHRONICLE office. 23-11 one who has seen it pronounced excellent staple for this latitude.

County trustee, D. J. Allen, will meet the tax-payers of the fourteenth civil district at precinct, Tuesday, January 22, 1895. This explanation is made to avoid confusion as to what district "precinct" referred to in the list of appointments published last week. He will meet the tax-payers of the thirteenth district at Manleys Chapel Friday, January 18, 1895.

The following names constitute the roll of honor of the high school department at the Camden Collegiate Institute for the second month: Misses Ha Lashlee, Gillie Stigall, Jimmie Townsend, Anna McDaniel, Anice McRae, Ola McDaniel, Delia Gibson, Alma Greer, Lucie Gibson, Sadie Lashlee and Messrs. Willie Lashlee, Eugene McDaniel and Orlando Lashlee. All who average about 80 per cent. on department, recitation and attendance will be placed on the roll of honor.

By special arrangements we offer Home and Farm in combination with THE CHRONICLE for $1, being the price of our paper alone. This is for all new subscribers, or old subscribers renewing and paying in advance, we send Home and Farm one year free. Home and Farm is a 16-page agricultural journal made by farmers for farmers. Its home department is unequalled. Its childrens department is entertaining and instructive. Renew now, and get this great agricultural and home journal free. Remember, this offer only holds good until January 1, 1895.

An enjoyable entertainment was given the young folks at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lashlee, a few miles east of town Wednesday evening. The following young people from this place were in attendance: Misses Ida McRae, Daisie Rye, Stella Lashlee, Joe Sullivan, Ida Melton, Tom Fussell, Mary Collins, Anna McDaniel, Ruby Bivens, Maggie Melton, Mary Wyly, Ha Lashlee, Lizzie McCullough and Stella Collins and Messrs. D. G. Hudson, W. T. Morris, C. V. Hawley, Claude Hudson, Orlando Lashlee, James Lashlee, Bola Hudson, Nolie Cuff, Mike Collins, J. S. Haley, John Maiden, T. M. Steele, W. E. McCullough, Tom Farmer, Harvey Garrett, Harris McCann, Von Jackson and Roy Melton.

The following committees have been appointed for the Christmas entertainment for the little folks: Committee to call off presents, S. L. Peeler and J. V. Travis; committee in charge of the tree and presents, Misses Daisie Rye and Sissie McElyea and Messrs. W. L. McElyea and E. M. McAuley; distribution committee, Zula McElyea, Ola McDaniel, Callie Scruggs, Ella Stigall, Willie Robins and Frank Miller; committee to secure tree, Messrs. H. F. Stigall, W. A. Steele, J. G. Robins, John Maiden and Russell Scruggs; committee to dress tree, Misses Daisy Rye, Nancy Stigall, Evora Steele, Tom Fussell Bertha McElyea, Mattie Ayers, Joe Sullivan and Mrs. Nina Arnold; to assist, Messrs. B. C. Scruggs and Vernon Farmer; committee on music, Mrs. W. L. Farmer, Miss Ruby Bivens and Messrs. U. A. Potts and J. V. Travis.

Hon. W. L. Morris, of this place, who is a candidate for sergeant-at-arms of the senate of the next general assembly, comes of one of the oldest and most influential families in this section of the State. He ably and creditably represented us in the general assembly two years ago, leading the Democratic ticket in this florid district. Mr. Morris has always been a loyal, capital letter Democrat, and best of all he is morally a gentleman in every sense the word implies. No man in the county takes more interest or does more effective work for the cause of Democracy, than Mr. Morris, who is a valiant and persistent champion of the principles he believes to be right. He is worthy of any position to which his good judgment would allow him to aspire, and we hope to see him elected to the position of sergeant-at-arms, feeling sure that no man can better fill the position than Mr. Morris, of the good county of Benton.

The Camden Collegiate Institute was packed Monday evening as it never has been before. The event of the evening was the thrilling drama, "The Turn of the Tide, or Wrecked in Port," presented by the students and friends of the college. Standing room was at a premium, and the interest never lagged from the rise of the curtain to the final drop. The characters were good, and were strongly presented, notably Mr. W. L. Morris, as "Jonas Aldrich," made a splendid hit, and personated the drunkard to perfection. "Mrs. Aldrich" was strongly personated by Miss Sissie McElyea, and Misses Stella Collins and Joe Sullivan as "Miss Susie Aldrich" and "Miss Frisky" were deserving of much praise. Miss Stella Lashlee, as "Miss Lillian Lacy," had the sympathy of the entire audience, and Messrs. W. T. Morris and O. L. Kennedy were well received and did credit to the characters of "Captain Ellsworth" and "Captain St. Morris." Mr. D. G. Hudson made a creditable villain indeed in the character of "Herman Clyde," and Mr. W. L. McElyea kept the audience in a roar of laughter in the character of "Pepper," the negro servant. Mr. Orlando Lashlee, in the character of "Sling Shot Rube," assisted in making the entertainment a success. The occasion was concluded by a speech by "Pepper," which completely captivated the audience. The entertainment will be repeated this evening, the proceeds to be applied to paying for a cistern at the Methodist parsonage. Admission, only 10 cents. Don't miss it.

CIRCUIT COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Some of the Most Important Proceedings had up to Yesterday.

Following are the proceedings of circuit court here this week, Judge Levi S. Woods presiding and Attorney-General B. J. Howard prosecuting:

W. F. Wheatley and F. Q. Wheatley, assault with gun with intent to murder; sentenced to work-house to secure accrued cost on part of State.

A mistrial was had in the case of William Cole, who was arraigned for disturbing public worship.

The case against C. H. Sullivan, charged with assault with attempt to kill, was nolle prosequi at defendants cost.

M. L. Barnes, unlawful communication with female under age; continued.

Newt Redick was tried and found guilty of robbery.

The verdict "guilty" was returned against Thomas Crowell, charged with larceny.

William Hartley, charged with carrying weapon, submitted his case and was fined.

The case against Jack Wyatt, for selling liquor to minor, was nolle prosequi.

For disturbing public worship Henry French was fined.

Land was condemned in the cases of David Young vs. J. A. Hampton, H. A. Greene, guardian, vs. J. L. Sharley, Phillips, Bailly & Co. vs. L. B. Luck, John Ogles for se J. Deaton vs. John Wilhelm, M. J. and Eliza Wilhelm.

Court is still in session, but the grand jury adjourned yesterday afternoon, after finding about ten or twelve true bills.

The following gentlemen composed the grand jury: J. F. Holowan, foreman, J. R. Cole, A. Y. Johnson, E. M. Pafford, W. H. Hamer, A. E. Dickerson, W. K. Aden, H. G. Lindsey, H. Q. Allison, M. Hernden, J. B. Pierce and H. C. Hollingsworth.

Hon. J. E. Washington, member of Congress from the Nashville district, on December 6 introduced in Congress "a bill to aid and encourage the holding of a Tennessee Centennial Exposition at Nashville, Tenn., in the year 1896, and making an appropriation therefor." The bill carries with it an appropriation of $250,000, $50,000 of which is to be expended on a building, and the remainder to be used in preparing a Government exhibit. The bill further recites that "the exhibit shall be made by the Government of the United States, from its Executive Departments, the Smithsonian Institution and National Museum and the United States Fish Commission, such articles and material as illustrate the functions and administrative faculty of the Government in time of peace, and its resources as a war power, tending to demonstrate the nature of our institutions and the adaptation to the wants of the people." Mr. Washington says he will not let the bill sleep, but with the aid of the Tennessee delegation and the Southern members in general, he hopes to get an early and favorable report.

Hon. G. H. Slaughter, of Saint Bethlehem, Tenn., in enumerating some of the good things that would come with the centennial exposition, writes as follows: "It will probably bring into the State from various other sections not less than 250,000 people, and probably more, many of whom, when they see and learn of our many advantages of soil and climate, will be induced to purchase homes and settle, some in one part of the State and some in others. At a reasonable estimate the average amount of money that will be expended and left in the State by these 250,000 people will not be less than $12 each, or in the aggregate $3,000,000 and possibly more which will be extensively distributed, more or less, among all classes of persons. This is estimating that these 250,000 people will remain here only a day or two and the estimate of the amount expended by those who locate and others is simply incalculable.
